

Guest Lecture of Prof. Terry Beitzel, James Madison University, USA

For the students and teachers of the college on 3rd March 2020, a guest lecture was organised in which Director of Mahatma Gandhi center for global non violence, at James Madison University, Virginia, USA, Professor Dr. Terry Beitzel spoke on Restorative Justice : Need of the hour, wherein he explained how probation officers in USA and many other countries are today looking for this new theory of punishment where in focus is on victim of crime as individual or community and not the State, therefore rather than Punishment to the offender, how satisfaction of the victim could be achieve should be pondered upon by round table sitting wherein offender, victim, family members of victim etc. will sit together to find out the causes of crime and will try to find out more acceptable solution to the problem. Large number of students and teachers were present and took part in the interactive session.
